

Links The MIDI controller project
Synth  e links	codroid	Dec 30, 2004
Links to a bunch of sites -- many things related to MIDI and DIY projects. http://www.synthzone.com/miditech.htm
Iguana Labs	codroid	Dec 30, 2004
Electronics tutorials, tools and kits. Some are displayed online, all are sold. http://www.iguanalabs.com/
MIDI Technical Fanatic's Brainwashing Center	codroid	Dec 30, 2004
A bizzare person has made a site worshipping MIDI. But it does contain a few hardware projects, as well as a free MIDI development language called "Rexx". http://www.borg.com/~jglatt/
MIDI Solutions products	codroid	Dec 30, 2004
Makers and sellers of a few products, like mergers and thru boxes. http://www.midisolutions.com/
Doepfer MIDI electronics	codroid	Dec 30, 2004
Home of the CTM64 -- 64-point contact with potentiometer inputs, capable of being daisy-chained. Look in "products" section. http://www.doepfer.de/home_e.htm
MIDI hardware designs by Tom Scarff	codroid	Dec 30, 2004
A handful of freely downloadable designs hardware project designs: different styles of controller units, channel units, signal converters, keyboard encoders, and more. Contains FAQs and basic information. http://tomscarff.tripod.com/
MIDI Gadgets Boutique manufacturers	codroid	Dec 30, 2004
Manufacturers of encoders, decoders, processors, and accessories. Also contains a list of links (mostly organs) at the bottom of the page. http://www.midiboutique.com/
MIDIbox Hardware Platform	codroid	Dec 30, 2004
This DIY site show how to make a large MIDI machine made up of smaller, individually buildable components. Includes schematics for several modules, MIDI merger, and "JDM programmer" -- an encoder. http://www.ucapps.de/mbhp.html		